Cairotan Construction Techniques

Most of the company's production is cemented, but for the Airflex-like styles, side stitching is used. The company is already introducing company computer based systems to facilitate production and monitoring and; internet connections are widely used within Cairotan, for many purposes such as commercial, communication, of creative designs and so on.

Cairotan Designer's Inspiration

Cairotan's management has organized its design studio in an original way; a semi integrated design and pattern making operation. A Greek designer works in Cairotan 15 days a month and the pattern making are made on the premises. Visits by management staff, to exhibitions, fairs, and examination of foreign catalogues, as well as inputs from designers, give Cairotan collection a really trendy touch with a permanent connection to current needs.

Cairotan Collection Concepts

Cairotan has adopted the concept of a "permanent" collection. Like many European manufacturers, the company staff understand that it's not only twice a year that we need to have a new collection - a collection is in perpetual evolution. To be closer to its customers, to be closer to its market, to be in closer touch with all new trends; these are the main preoccupations of Cairo Industrial management.
